

Copyright Statement

17 DECEMBER 2018*

This was originally satirical, but it is an actual issue that we don't want people to violate these laws. Also this might get high traffic and we have an agreement with Google to crawl this site. Additionally, it was kind of odd...

In this document when it says “we”, “our” or “us” we are referring to Mullafacation, a sole trading group

Impersonation

Mullafacation and the Mullafacation logo is our trademark therefore you are not permitted to impersonate us in any way, shape or form or you would be violating trademark laws. Anything on mullafacation.com or it's directories and anything Mullafacation creates is copyrighted unless where noted otherwise.

Other Trademarks

Other trademarks such as Epic Gang, Epic Kitten and their logos are also copyright of Mullafacation unless otherwise noted.

Scratch Software

We use a software known as Scratch, a programming language developed by the Lifelong Kindergarten Group in the Massachusetts Institute Of Technology's Media Lab, and all “projects” shared on the site are under the Creative Commons Share Alike Licence 2.0. If you are using our projects shared on the site (excludes outside of the site) you must give credit to Mullafacation and have a link to our Scratch user space, (<https://scratch.mit.edu/users/mullafacation>).

Gummy Bear Guidelines

We advise you to acknowledge that Mullafacation likes gummy bears to make this copyright statement humorous because they are most commonly boring. Also, we advise you not to eat wood because that would be disgusting unlike gummy bears. Additionally, we advise you to underline gummy bears and make it italics if your text editor allows you to. Doing so is worse than eating wood.

---

Date (and this footnote) added on 12th October 2022